

11/2/2014

A FRIGHT AT SCHOOL

A frightening encounter

Four years ago I had one of the scariest moments in my life. I was at school's church, because some students were about to confirmate and I had to sing in the choir. Then, I remember I had ~~forgot~~^{forgot} a book in the classroom I needed it for studying, so I asked down if I could go up there and take it.

It was about eight o'clock when I went upstairs to the second floor right to catch up my book. Later on, I was coming back down, when I turned (up) a corner and I suddenly saw a figure staring at me at the end of the corridor. I was paralyzed there with my book in my hand. After a while, the figure asked: "Is it you, Nuria?". Then, I calmed myself and said "What are you doing up here? You've scared me!". Finally, my friend Maria came close to me and told me she had forgotten her book too. I felt angry with her ~~to scare~~^{for having scared} me, but in the end it was a very good story to tell and laugh about. I will never forget it

